Simon and Maryann Chang

Known for his quality clothing and unique Hawaiian apparel, Simon and his wife Maryann Chang has been a fixture at the Swap Meet since its early days. Over the years, their booth has become a gathering place for shoppers seeking Hawaiian print dresses and aloha shirts that resonates with the spirit of aloha. His piece of advice to anyone starting out in the retail industry is to “just work hard so you can take care of and provide for your ohana.”

Booth Location: 13D27 (Wed, Sat)

Michael Lai

Michael Lai embodies the aloha spirit with his extensive collection of Hawaiian treasures. Specializing in traditional Hawaiian handmade jewelry, Michael Lai's booth is a testament to his passion for preserving and sharing the island's cultural heritage. Visitors flock to his stall not just for the quality of his goods but because his family has been a part of the Aloha Stadium Swap Meet vendor community for over 35 years—and their commitment to customer satisfaction has kept shoppers coming back for generations.

Booth Location 7D10 & 6B18 (Wed), 14D25 & 6B15 (Sat), 3D08 & 2D14 (Sun)

Ruby Klement

For more than thirty years, Ruby Klement and her Natural Herbal and Medicinal Remedies has been a fixture at the swap meet, offering her exceptional herbal remedies crafted from Noni plants and herbal teas brewed from ground kava. Known as both a revered healer and entrepreneur, Ruby's impact transcends mere product sales; she seeks to heal our community with her blends of noni juice and soursop, while also imparting knowledge about the intrinsic value of these natural Hawaiian remedies.

Booth Location: 7D20 (Wed, Sat), 14D24 (Sun)

Johnson Wong

Johnson Wong's booth has been one of our long time favorites, offering genuine Red Dirt shirts as well as other apparel. His authentic products reflect Hawaii's natural wonders and reveries. The artistic designs adorning the clothing he sells are a magnet for visitors to his booth, setting his products apart from the rest of the market. Customers are drawn in by the unique and compelling artwork, making his booth a standout destination.

Booth Location: 4D16 (Wed), 4D07 (Sat), 3D35 (Sun)

Melvin Wakai

Meet Melvin Wakai, owner of Wakai's Orchids.

As a seasoned orchid grower whose stall brims with the delicate beauty of blooming orchid plants. For decades, Melvin has graced the swap meet with his exquisite orchids, drawing visitors and locals alike to admire and purchase these tropical treasures. Originally starting his journey at the Kam Swap Meet, he recalls the days under the hot sun, where he meticulously tended to his orchids and shared his love for these exotic flowers with curious passersby. The move to Aloha Stadium came naturally as the swap meet gained popularity.

"I remember being next to the person who sold Molokai Sweet Bread. We were swap meet neighbors for many years." Melvin reminisces, recalling his stall neighbor selling Molokai Sweet Bread, a testament to the enduring camaraderie among swap meet vendors.

Booth Location: 12C27 (Sun)

Roscoe Kalilikane

Known as the music man, originally selling CDs and record albums at the flea market, Roscoe Kalilikane's passion to create has evolved into one of the swap meet's go-to vendors for Polynesian and tribal tshirt designs. Never missing a day for the past 35 years, Roscoe celebrates the opportunity to talk story with long time customers and creating new designs. Whether you're new to his booth or been coming by for years you'll be sure to still hear the music as you stroll through racks of apparel.
